EMBA 2013
Director Academics,
Creative Design Institute,
Shenzhen, China

“It was a great learning experience studying among knowledgeable and experienced people. Being a fashion designer by profession, I was more tuned to creative thinking rather than thinking analytically. The Executive MBA at LUMS helped to bridge the gap between the intangibility of fashion and the concrete realities of business. I am presently working as a director at one of the most renowned fashion institutes of China.”

“The LUMS faculty not only inspires but also aspires. All of our mentors possess very strong industrial knowledge and experience along with innovative teaching methodologies. They transform the mindset of their students through counselling and guidance. Their diverse experience with a pragmatic approach guides the students to integrate their studies with their actual experiences and above all they inject energy in students. I still enjoy the privilege of getting advice from my teachers, related to problems I encounter in business.”

“Regardless of the realm we choose to work in, at some point every career path converges into business and entrepreneurship. The challenges at SDSB, the mentoring by the best minds in business education and the flexibility of this programme have navigated my career further towards a clearer path to success.”
